

2024

CMRA 2024

PUBLICATION TEAMS
10 SCHOLARS ACADEMY

Customized Medical Research Accelerator

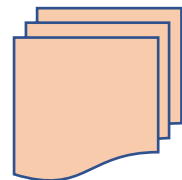

A Two-Month Educational Journey

"Walking with Scholars"

"Exploring the Path of Earth's Great Minds"

Program of 2024

Year3

CMRA 2024©copyright: 10Scholar Academy

CMRA Program is a Publication Program that will Boost Your Career

Publication Benefits

- Professionals who have published research are in high demand among leading employers in Saudi Arabia, the UAE, Gulf region and Europe.

- Published work increases your credibility and reputation in the medical community.
- Sharing your research helps advance medical knowledge and improve outcomes
- Collaborate with leading professionals and researchers, expanding your professional network.
- Keep up with the latest developments in your field and show your commitment to continuous learning.
- Publications can lead to leadership roles and specialized career paths .
- Publishing your work offers a multitude of benefits, whether you are an academic, professional, or not
- Publishing in international journals establishes you as an authority in your field.
- Enhancing your CV : A strong publication record can significantly enhance your academic and professional profile, making you more competitive for jobs, grants, and promotions.
- Publications allow you to share your research findings or creative work with a broader audience, contributing to the collective knowledge of your field.
- Your work can influence industry practices, policies, and research directions.
- Publishing can lead to new collaborations with other researchers and professionals who are interested in your work.
- Being published increases your chances of being invited to speak at conferences and seminars, further broadening your professional network.
- The process of preparing and revising a publication improves your writing, critical thinking, and research skills.
- Peer review provides valuable feedback, helping you refine your work
- High-impact publications can attract media attention, increasing the visibility of your work beyond academic or professional circles.
- Published work that is frequently cited demonstrates its impact on your field, which can be important for tenure, funding, and reputation.
- Contributing new insights, theories, or data helps advance your field and can lead to new innovations and understandings.
- Publications can serve as educational resources for students and juniors
- A strong publication record can enhance your chances of securing research grants and other funding
- Publications are often a key criterion for academic promotions and career advancement in various fields.
- Seeing your work published can be highly rewarding, providing a sense of accomplishment and validation of your efforts
- Your published work remains part of the permanent record, contributing to your professional legacy.
- Publishing your work is significantly enhance your career, influence your field, and provide personal satisfaction.
- Learn the steps to prepare, write, and submit your research for publication.
- Attend our workshops and receive mentorship from experienced professionals.

- Access valuable resources and support throughout the publication process.

How the Program Works:

Over two months, you will be immersed in a structured program with team of researcher that covers everything from identifying research topics to the final steps of getting your paper published.

You'll receive personalized support, ensuring that you stay on track and achieve your publication goals.

Take the Next Step:

- Join CMRA 2024 Program and take your medical career to new heights.
- By the end of this journey, you'll have a published paper that sets you high level and opens up new opportunities for you.
- Don't miss this chance , enroll now to make a significant impact in the medical field.
- Join us today and start your journey with 10Scholars Academy's CMRA 2024 Program.

Here are the types of job promotions according to the number of publications

When You Applied to a job you will be classified according to the number of your publication , for example :

A. Postdoctoral Positions

Usually, 2-4 high-quality publications in well-regarded journals are expected.

B. Assistant Professor

Typically, having 6-9 publications is considered competitive. .

C. Associate Professor

For promotion to or hiring at the associate professor level, you might need around 15-20 publications

D. Full Professor

At this level, candidates often have 30+ publications, including high-impact papers

The Program Is Simi-Free

We are waiting for U ! For registration contact WhatsApp Number: +249912356729